

Letter of Recommendation

I am immensely happy that finally Prachi is applying for what she has always dreamed of. It is an absolute pleasure to recommend her to pursue MS in BAIS at your university. As her mentor at Atos|Syntel Pvt Ltd., I have seen her grow much faster than any other juniors in my contact.

She showed great leadership qualities right since her training period; she not only managed all the crucial tasks allocated to her within stipulated time period but also maintained a good balance between all the tasks and assessments at the training, keeping good a score record. She then was tagged in Retails and Logistics vertical for FedEx client, proving that she can work well even in stressful conditions. Prachi is a quick learner and has great problem-solving and analytical skills and has not only resolved many problems in a short span of time but also made sure that they do not recur in the future.

During the FedEx project she acquired the skills of end-to-end automation using UFT, SQL developer, Oracle EBS, VBScript etc. Within 4 months of training in FedEx project, she was able to deftly manage the project and in recognition, she was entrusted to manage her project from Pune. Currently, she is the only Oracle EBS resource for the project in Pune. For a junior, she displayed great professionalism and determination in successfully handling the deliverables; I am sure she will definitely be an asset to your university.

Other than her technical skills, Prachi has excellent communication and presentation skills. She speaks confidently and with conviction in front of seniors or managers during the meetings. She has proven to be a good team player and always thought in the best interest of the team and project. I really admired her attitude of being relentless about learning new things and keeping herself updated. I have observed Prachi to be very positive and amiable person and interact with everyone very enthusiastically. She showed great eagerness in conducting 'communal living' meetings to address the issues of the blue-collared employees. She is also part of S'prayas, a platform where social events are held by Atos|Syntel.

I admire her tenure with Atos|Syntel Pvt Ltd., and would wish to associate with her anytime in future. I am pleased with Prachi's decision to join a graduate program at your University and very strongly recommend her for the same. Undoubtedly, she will be an outstanding student, researcher and will be in an even better version of her to contribute to the industry after the graduate program.

Please don't hesitate to contact me in case any further information is needed about Prachi's profile.

Best regards,

(24/12/19)

Siddanagouda Patil

(Associate Consultant)

Atos|Syntel Pvt Ltd.

Email : siddanagouda.patil@atos.net

Cell phone: +918698327495